

Sevenoaks Ramblers

A short walk around Leigh with a little pub detour - 5 miles

Wednesday, 15th July

It is amazing what a promised pub stop can do to raise the profile of a leisurely, unspectacular short walk! Twenty-three walkers turned up for the 'around Leigh' one on Wednesday, 15 July, and they were rewarded by a light breeze, pleasant views and cold drinks at the Little Brown Jug.

While most of the participants can more often be found on longer and more challenging rambles, on this occasion they seemed to appreciate the lack of urgency and the certainty of being back in very good time to watch the all-important football match on tv. Thus encouraged, I will perhaps put some more short walks into the Sevenoaks programme – once I have found some pubs that open at 10 a.m.!
